

LIGHTS

ACTION

Savannah is once again in the “spotlight” in the film industry and the Leadership Savannah Graduate Program will “focus” on that very important aspect of our local economy in its opening program on November 9 at 5:30 P.M.

Jay Self, Film Services Director of the City of Savannah Film Office, will be present to provide his insights on what happens behind the camera, so to speak, in attracting film making to Savannah and what happens once the decision is made....and what the future holds. It will be an interesting and certainly timely program.

Our “locale” will be the Savannah Theatre on Bull Street and what more perfect place to discuss films. We will hear about not only the history of this landmark theatre but also be able to see the theater from a different perspective than most people. With Hollywood in the air, who knows what “stars” might emerge that evening?

The Leadership Savannah Graduate Program has always been an excellent way to maintain contact with your fellow graduates. While social networking on-line is the sign of the times, the traditional ability to see your friends and colleagues in person is still the best. Food and drink will be provided and all you have to do is come, enjoy and “smile for the camera!!!!”

We do hope you will join the Graduate Program for the 2009-2010 year at a cost of $75 (a non Hollywood price for three terrific programs).

See you on the red carpet.
